

Clean Energy Authorization Permission Management

Permission Management Overview

This User Guide and Instructions are meant to serve as an overview for creating clean energy accounts on IRS Energy Credits Online and the different permissions granted. These steps will show different screens and are meant to serve as a guide for the user.

To facilitate this, the IRS has created this user guide and Instructions to help entities navigate the tool.

This User Guide and Instructions includes general information and instructions on the following topics:

- Accessing the clean energy account log in page
- Creating one or more IRS Energy Credits Online Accounts
- Troubleshooting potential errors
- Creating additional authorizations and the role each one has

Identity Verification

All users will need to verify their personal identity. The IRS uses ID.me, a technology provider, to provide identity verification and sign-in services. If you have an ID.me account, just sign in. Don't create a new ID.me account for your business. If you're a new user, have your government issued photo identification ready. Verify your personal identity – not your business information – with ID.me. IRS Energy Credits Online Functionality

Users can register an organization to use IRS Energy Credits Online functionality for one or more of the following types tasks:

- Clean Vehicle Dealer or Seller: Submit required Time-Of-Sale reports and request Advance Payments for tax
- Clean Vehicle Manufacturer: Enter into qualified manufacturing agreements and submit required periodic reports
- Clean Energy (Elective Pay or Transfer Election) Entity or Semiconductor Manufacturer: Request registration numbers for clean energy tax credits or as a semiconductor manufacturer

To register, visit IRS.gov/CleanEnergy for more information. The first user to register on behalf of an entity will be assigned as a 'Clean Energy Officer' for the entity.

- This user has access to all IRS Energy Credits Online functionality for the entity. This includes the - ability to authorize additional users and assign permissions governing what IRS Energy Credit Online functionality subsequent users will have.
- For any subsequent users to gain access to IRS Energy Credits Online functionality, the first user to register on behalf of an entity must directly or by authorizing additional Clean Energy Officer's must first authorize each subsequent users access.

- Any user with the "Clean Energy Officer" role in IRS Energy Credits Online can modify or revoke permissions for any user associated with the entity, including the first user.

Additional Users

Once the first user has created an account for the organization, share the link with additional users who should have access to IRS Energy Credits Online. Each additional users will need:

1. An Account Associated with the Entity:

- An ID.me account is needed to verify the user's identity. Use an existing ID.me account or have government issued photo identification ready to create a new ID.me account.
- The entity's EIN and the entity's name as shown on the most recent tax return
- Their title within the organization

2. To Notify the Appropriate User of the Authorization Request

- Once the new login account and account creation request is submitted, notify the appropriate individual in your organization that you've submitted a request
- Only authorized users can review the request by visiting the "manage business users" tab of the entity's account.

3. To Receive Authorization

- A 'Clean Energy Officer' for your entity will need to approve the request in IRS Energy Credits Online

User Roles

- The users who are responsible for managing an entity's users and assigning permissions (i.e., Clean Energy Officers) should pay close attention to the roles assigned to other users in their organization: All Clean Energy Officers have access to all IRS Energy Credits Online functionality.
- Clean vehicle dealers or sellers should generally assign employees who need access to submit Time-Of-Sale Reports and/or request Advance Payments access the "dealer/seller" role. Users assigned the "dealer/seller" role can't manage other users permissions.
- Users requesting elective pay election, transfer election, or semiconductor manufacturer registration numbers should generally be assigned the "Clean Energy Delegate" role or "CE Third Party User" role if they do not need authority to manage user permissions for the entity.
- Clean vehicle manufacturers: should generally assign employees who need access to submit periodic reports

Clean Energy Authorization Permission Management

User Guide

Additional User Roles: This page displays the different roles each authorization can have along with the permissions assigned to each role.

The Clean Energy solution provides an authorization process for additional users after the first Clean Energy Officer (aka “super user”) is authorized to act on behalf of an entity to access Clean Energy features.

Clean Energy Sign in

If you do not currently have an online account, you will need to create one.

The IRS uses ID.me, a technology provider, to provide identity verification and sign-in services.

- If you have an ID.me account, just sign in. Don't create a new ID.me account for your business.
- If you're a new user, have your photo identification ready. Verify your personal identity – not your business information – with ID.me.

Sign In or Create a New Account

IRS now offers a sign-in option with ID.me, which offers access to IRS online services with a secure account that protects your privacy.

ID.me is an account created, maintained, and secured by a technology provider.

If you don't have an ID.me account, you must create a new account.
